Fred O. Fowler Sends in Resignation as Commissioner of Sapulpa Police.

TOOK LONG VACATION

Remaining Members of the Board May Ignore Date and Appoint Successor.

Special to The World.
SAPULPA, Nov. 3.—Fred O. Fowler, city commissioner of public affairs, has tendered his resignation effective on December 1. He will devote his entire time to studying for the ministry. Mayor J. Wade Bone today received his resignation by mail.

For some time Fowler has been intensely interested in the Seventh day Adventist church and two months ago left on a vacation to California, where he planned to study his religion. When it became apparent that he was keen for religious work, it was suggested to him by the board of city commissioners that he give up his duties as a public official here. His resignation today was accepted and a half ago. Who will be elected to fill the vacancy caused by his resignation is not known. Competing for the position of the next election is within the power of the remaining commissioners, Mayor Bone and Commissioner of Finance Don McAlister, to appoint a man.

RED CROSS DRIVE FOR 1920 STARTS

J. F. Owens, Director for Oklahoma, Says Every One of 77 Counties Is at Work.

Special to The World.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 3.—The third annual membership campaign for the American Red Cross got off to a flying start in Oklahoma today with the placing of thousands of names on the 1920 roll.

J. F. Owens, state director of the drive, today was in touch with every county in the state and found that a live, aggressive, working organization is pushing the campaign throughout Oklahoma.

The annual membership campaign was ushered in yesterday with the celebration of Red Cross Sunday. In churches of all creeds and at mass meetings in many communities, the achievements of the Red Cross in the war and since, were reviewed by pastors and noted speakers, who showed why the organization of the Red Cross must be kept vigorous and strong for the problems of peace at home.

Red Cross workers everywhere, assisted by a large number of demobilized service men, today began a house-to-house canvass enrolling members for the ensuing year. At the same time other workers and former soldiers began canvassing the business districts. All who join for 1920 are being given Red Cross service flags to be displayed in their windows and 1920 Red Cross lapel buttons, which will make them exempt from further solicitation.

BACKACHE AND HEAVY FEELING

Weak, Nervous, Restless Woman in Arkansas Hears of Cardui, Tries it and is Greatly Benefitted; Now Recommends it to Others.

PEACH ORCHARD, Ark.—Mrs. Edith High, who lives near here, says: "Sometime ago I began to have trouble with my back. I would ache and I could hardly get up when down. I was so weak I would just drag around and did not feel like doing anything at all. I was so nervous I felt I could scream, and such a heavy feeling I could not rest at all. It looked like I was going to get down in bed."

I heard of Cardui and thought I would try it and see what it would do for my case. After taking a few bottles I grew stronger. The backache, heavy feeling left me. I wasn't so nervous, in fact, felt better all over. I took 12 bottles and certainly was greatly benefited and can recommend it to anyone as a tonic or builder. I often tell others how it helped and strengthened me. Cardui is a mild vegetable tonic, with no bad after-effects. Its ingredients act in a helpful, building way, on the woman's constitution.

Another druggist, he knows about Cardui. Some druggists have sold it for forty years.—Advt.

AGITATORS AT COAL MINES FACE ARREST

Adjutant General Barrett Says He Will Not Tolerate Interference With Guard.

GREEN WORKERS OPPOSED

State Officials Withhold Comment on Statement of Mine Inspector Boyle.

Special to The World.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 3.—The slightest interference with the military government of the coal strike zone by agitators or others is expected to result in immediate incarceration and probably followed by assignment of the prisoner to "pistol duty."

Pistol duty to the civilian means walking a beat or other ordinary duties of a peace officer, but to the military authorities it has a different significance, and means sweeping up the company streets in camp, digging ditches to enhance the sanitary condition, scrubbing floors, washing dishes and peeling potatoes. The national guard has not gone to the coal strike zone to hurt anyone, but on the other hand, to prevent people from hurting each other, was the substance of General Barrett's farewell statement.

The guard has a duty to perform and it will be performed only with the view of carrying out the governor's orders of affording the fullest protection to workers who wish to work and if the labor is supplied the mines will run. Every reasonable precaution is being taken to prevent any further disturbance of the guard. I am responsible for the lives of more than 2,000 men and certainly shall not permit any person, agitator, civil authority or what not to influence anyone to interfere with the execution of military orders.

Ed Boyle, state mine inspector at McAlester, declared that he will not permit any of the mines to be operated by inexperienced men. "I will not permit any men to enter the mines who would be a danger to themselves," Boyle is credited with saying. "I don't care whether the state or government takes control, I am going to use the fullest power of my office to keep green men out of the mines. The troops ordered to do this work would have to prove their experience."

No one at the capital offered any comment of a serious nature upon the Boyle statement, but the declaration of the adjutant general relative to interference by anyone was considered to be significant.
